Celebrating The Olympian's Seniors!

Editors-In-Chief

Brenda Huynh

Brenda has served The Olympian for three years, transitioning from staff writer, to opinion editor, to 2025-26 editor-in-chief. Throughout her time at The Olympian, her favorite past time has been bothering staff writers to do their work and poking fun at editors. She is committed to UC Berkeley, and will be studying psychology in the fall, on a pre-med track.

Sam Jarvis

Sam has been at The Olympian for 3 years, serving as a staff editor, sports editor, and editor-in-chief. Some of his favorite memories are taking photos, helping people improve their writing, and making friends. Journalism has taught him lessons in leadership and the importance of staying current with national and local news. He will attend Las Positas next fall, majoring in marketing.

Editors

Amaya Rambel

After being both a staff writer and opinion editor for The Olympian, Amaya has discovered her passion for journalistic writing and fostering an educated community. She is committed to UC Riverside for molecular biology, and hopes to pursue a career in the medical field as a doctor.

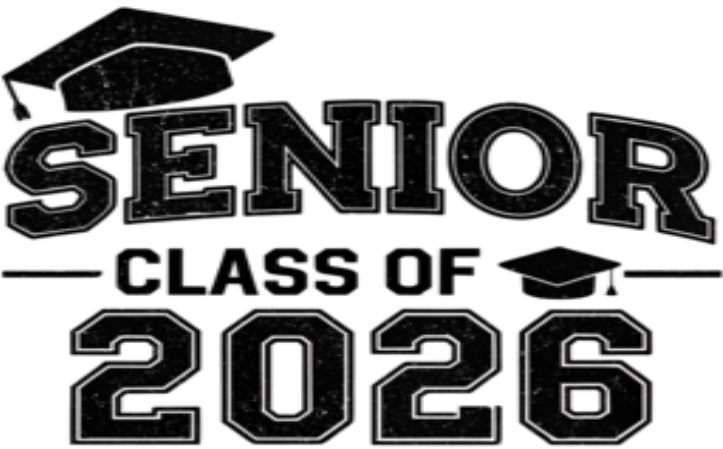

Sarada Khanal

Sarada Khanal has been with The Olympian for two years, serving as a staff writer and sports editor. She is grateful for all the opportunities she has received through journalism. Notably, she has attended and reported on multiple sports games. She loves writing, and journalism has been a great outlet for her. She is looking forward to attending UC Berkeley in the fall to study political science.

Sharlene Goduco

Sharlene Goduco has been working with The Olympian for two years, serving as staff writer for the first year and currently as the feature editor. She will never forget the moments of interacting with lots of people and listening to their unique stories that needed to be heard by everyone. Sharlene will be attending Las Positas and is excited to pursue her career in journalism or theology studies.

Staff Writers

Wee Lee

Wee joined The Olympian in his senior year as a staff writer. Some of his favorite moments from this class was taking photos for events, and getting the opportunity to create inDesign pages. Wee will be attending UC Santa Barbara to study computer science.

Elvis Carpenter

Elvis Carpenter has been with The Olympian for one year as a staff writer and video editor. During that time, he contributed to several video projects, including one that won an award. After graduation, he isn't sure what the future holds, but he's excited to find out.
"Elvis has left the building."

Mason Mattox

Mason joined The Olympian in his senior year, and became a staff writer. Some of his favorite moments were interviewing people, and taking photos for the sports games. Besides learning how little he liked waking up early in the morning, a big takeaway was meeting deadlines, and working on a schedule. He'll be going to Chabot Community College next year and studying something IT related.

Jackson Fabiani

Jackson joined The Olympian in his senior year and is currently a staff writer. His favorite moment from this class was when the class was asked to take a group photo and he was compressed into a cube to fit in. Rather than going to college, Jackson will immediately be pursuing employment.
